

Business Continuity Update 26th March 2020

Primarily we would like to wish our clients, suppliers and staff well during this challenging and unprecedented situation.

Since the outbreak of Coronavirus the board of FIM Capital have been monitoring developments closely and have implemented our business continuity plans in addition to following the guidelines and recommendations issued by the Isle of Man Government.

As stated in our COVID-19 update released on the 19th March the health and wellbeing of our staff, clients and suppliers is of paramount importance. So further to the announcement by Howard Quayle (The Chief Minister of the Isle of Man) on Sunday 22nd March where he outlined further restrictions that were being introduced by the Isle of Man Government to slow the spread of the virus, FIM Capital have engaged the next step in our business continuity plan. This means that the majority of staff are now working remotely with only essential functions taking place from the office, with all social distancing guidelines being implemented.

During this period, whilst changing our way of working, our business will operate as normal with the intention that there will be minimal, if any disruption. Our team will be making use of the wide range of technology available with client, supplier and team meetings taking place via video conferencing, skype or phone.

So, whilst this is unquestionably a challenging time for everyone, we remain well positioned to weather this turbulent environment with the experienced and committed team at FIM Capital who are dedicated to protecting our clients' best interests.

Should you have any queries, questions or simply wish to contact us please do not hesitate to do so in the usual way.
